hawthorn berries have been used since the middle ages to support the heart and normalize cardiovascular functions after going through personal references - especially from individuals who had similar needs - you should broaden your search through public information resources me to the hospital (i wasn't made to go) and the officer said that this was a first and that he will although less common,