vitamin D plays several key roles in your body, including absorption of minerals, calcium and phosphorus from the foods you eat.